FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact:
Ron Jake
Stoughton Trailers
608.877.8601
rjake@stoughtontrailers.com

Stoughton Trailers Launches Major Hiring Initiative to Support Strong Growth

STOUGHTON, Wis. (November 17, 2026) — Stoughton Trailers, LLC, a leading manufacturer of transportation equipment, announced significant business growth driven by increased customer demand, expanded market share, and strong order activity from both new and existing customers. To support this growth, the company is expanding its recruitment efforts across its Wisconsin and Texas operations.

"Sales secured through new customers, combined with large orders from existing fleet and dealer partners, have substantially increased our production backlog," said Bob Wahlin, Chief Executive Officer of Stoughton Trailers. "Not only is the transportation equipment market experiencing strong growth, but we have also increased our market share across key product lines. That momentum is generating hundreds of new opportunities across the company. This is an exciting time to join the Stoughton Trailers team and be part of our continued success."

To meet growing demand, Stoughton Trailers is actively hiring a wide range of positions at its manufacturing facilities in Stoughton, Brodhead, and Evansville, Wisconsin, and Waco, Texas. Available opportunities include assemblers, welders, maintenance technicians, quality control inspectors, and numerous other production and skilled trade positions. Many roles are available on first, second, and weekend shifts.

In addition to manufacturing positions, the company is recruiting a variety of professional positions based at its state-of-the-art headquarters.

Supporting its long-term growth strategy, Stoughton Trailers has added 450 employees since the second quarter of 2026 and plans to add approximately 700 employees in 2027. This expansion represents 1,150 new jobs in total (approximately 1,000 in South Central Wisconsin and 150 in Waco, Texas). The company continues to invest in its workforce through enhanced compensation and benefits, including recent increases in hourly wages.

"People are the foundation of our success," Wahlin added. "We are committed to creating rewarding career opportunities, investing in employee development, and providing a workplace where individuals can build long-term careers."

Employees at Stoughton Trailers enjoy a comprehensive benefits package that includes manufacturing performance bonuses, on-site health clinics, wellness program, weekly pay with a daily pay option, safety premiums, company 401(k) match and other valuable benefits. Starting pay varies based on experience and position. Manufacturing employees are regularly scheduled for four 10-hour shifts, with overtime based on production needs.

Individuals interested in joining the Stoughton Trailers team can learn more about available opportunities and benefits by visiting www.stojobs.com.

About Stoughton Trailers

Stoughton Trailers is one of South-Central Wisconsin's largest manufacturers and ranks among North America's top semi-truck trailer manufacturers. Privately owned and based in Wisconsin, the company designs, manufactures and markets a broad range of dependable trailers for over-the-road trucking, agricultural trailers and specialty transportation equipment. The company offers comprehensive solutions for building, financing, renting, and managing trailer fleets. For more information, visit StoughtonTrailers.com.